

Community Gardens of Tucson AT A GLANCE

For nearly three decades we have lived our mission to create a stronger, healthier, more vibrant Tucson through our community gardens and partnerships.

We Support Community Food Access through our Gardening Scholarship Program by providing scholarships to economically marginalized families and individuals, many who are refugees and immigrants, so that they can grow abundant, fresh healthy food for the table.

We Build Strong Communities through our Desert Gardening Program by managing 18 community gardens located in diverse neighborhoods across Tucson. Supplying our gardeners with the water, tools, equipment, training, support and encouragement to garden successfully in the Sonoran Desert.

We Invest In Our Future through our Kids in Gardens Program by providing hands on garden education for children K-6, many from low-income communities, who learn where food comes from, how joyous it is to grow fresh vegetables, and who are inspired to become the next generation of gardeners.

Our Impact in the Community

Provided opportunities for more than 425 gardeners from all ethnic and socioeconomic backgrounds to cultivate more than 25,000 square feet of garden plots each year

Received more than 3,000 volunteer hours donated to CGT in support of our mission and programs at an estimated value of $90,000

Provided more than 100 sliding scale scholarships, valued at $20,000, to low income gardeners, many who are refugees and immigrants

Hosted more than 75 classes with K-6 students and educated 220 students from underserved communities about the magic and joy of growing and preparing their own fresh food

Community Gardens of Tucson's vision is to create a stronger, healthier, more vibrant Tucson through our community gardens and partnerships, which are supported by our Core Values...

We work to improve food resiliency

Everyone is welcome

We create and inspire the next generation of gardeners

Gardening is better together

Our gardening is ecologically sustainable

We are always learning

Community Gardens of Tucson is a 501(c)(3) organization. We rely on community support like yours. Please help us continue our important work by visiting www.communitygardensoftucson.org/donate